

SMALL TASTES

The Ashmead family appreciate that great wine is just one aspect of any dining experience. Good food and company are also needed to truly satisfy.

We've put together a simple selection of tasting plates which showcase some of our favourite local producers.

Small plates designed to share, available from 11am-3pm 7 days

Dom's Kalamata olives and smoky almonds

7

Dominic Torzi, fifth generation Calabrian settled in the Barossa over 20 years ago, bringing with him the recipe for the best olives we've ever tasted, served alongside our house roasted smoky almonds.

Eleni's grilled sourdough with Ortiz anchovies in olive oil

18

Grilled artisan sourdough accompanied by famous Ortiz anchovies, which are processed by hand within hours of being caught and have a pink, fatty, almost creamy flesh that is gently salty and slightly sweet. To the anchovy lover it's almost criminal to eat these any other way but straight out of the tin.

Barossa platter for two

30

A selection of produce which we enjoy while sharing a glass or two of the Barossa's finest. Linke's traditionally smoked lachsshinken and mettwurst, duck and pistachio terrine, beetroot relish, Dom's olives, cornichons, smoky almonds and local marinated feta.

Cheese Plate

Selection of two artisan cheeses from Barossa Valley Cheese Co. with seasonal fruit, Maggie Beer's quince paste and crispbreads.
